Editing Exercise

1. The most common utilization for solar energy is been with solar photovoltaic (PV) cells. Here the sun's light is converting by the PV cells into Direct Current (DC). These electricity can then be used to running almost all gadgets in your home. Another method involve the use of sun's heat instead of light. Energy producing from the sun's heat is called thermal solar energy. Producing of thermal solar energy has more cost effective then the photovoltaic cells method mainly because here you can converts up to 50-80% of the sun's energy as opposed with PV which converts only 15%.
